6.1.1.1 During Years 3-6, provision has been designed to build seamlessly upon the KS1 curriculum and to ensure effective transitions from one year to the next. It provides a solid foundation for transition to secondary and encourages students to develop key independent learning skills through a self-directed learning framework. There is a focus on developing the core skills of speaking, listening, literacy and numeracy and opportunities for cross-curricular learning ensuring breadth and balance. Rising Stars assessments are used to measure pupil progress through KS2 with Cambridge Insights assessments as indicators of attainment and to benchmark current and future progress.

6.1.2 Years 7 - 8

6.1.2.1 In Years 7 and 8, the curriculum builds upon the primary phase to ensure a seamless transition through key stage 3 to iGCSE and beyond, embedding the over-arching ‘Learning to Learn’ philosophy as well as the core skills of speaking, listening, literacy and numeracy.

6.1.3 Years 9 - 11

6.1.3.1 iGCSE courses will begin in Year 9 and will last for three years (Year 9-11). The three-year iGCSE programme allows more time for content delivery alongside self-directed learning and deeper study. Students requiring support benefit from personalised provision during their GCSE studies.
